INTRODUCTION TO SHEPHERD NEAME

Shepherd Neame is Britain's Oldest Brewery, with an official founding date of 1698, although evidence suggests that brewing has been taking place in Faversham since before this date.

Our CEO Jonathan Neame is the fifth generation of his family to lead the business and has been with the company since 1991.

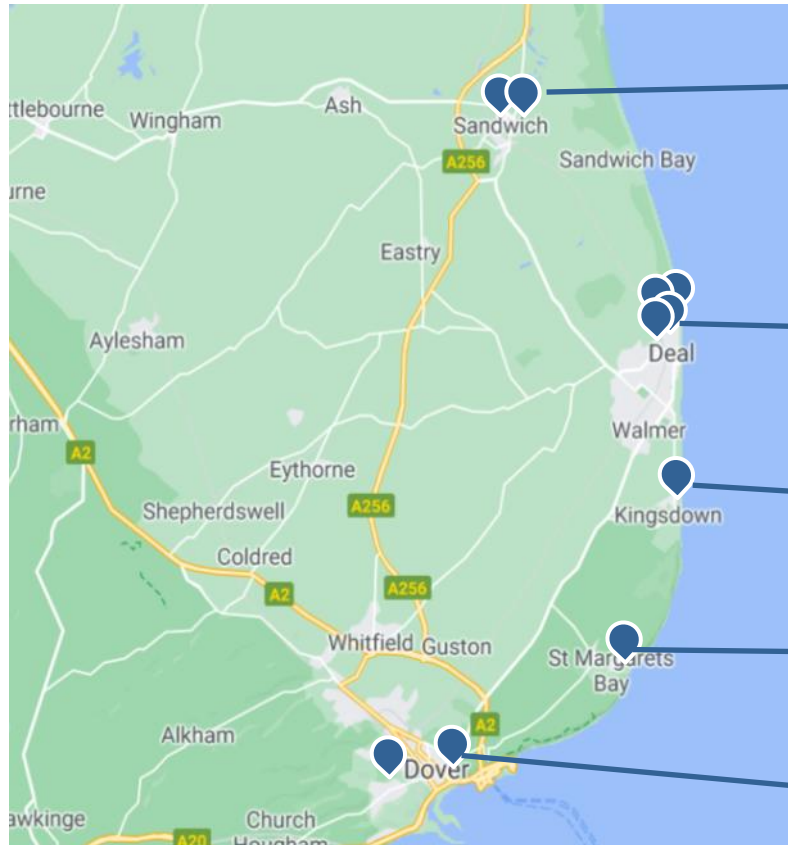

Shepherd Neame brews around 60 million pints of beer a year from its base in Faversham – this includes traditional classics such as Spitfire and Bishops Finger along with newer brands like Whitstable Bay and Bear Island.

The Company owns and operates 316 pubs and hotels across the South East of England.

BELL HOTEL, SANDWICH

Situated on the River Stour, in one of the original Cinque Ports, the Bell Hotel has been welcoming guests since Tudor times, and despite extensive recent refurbishment, it has retained many of its charming period features.

Guaranteeing complete comfort for your stay here, with many of the 37 rooms including features such as roll top baths and four poster beds.

The Bell even holds a marriage licence for a truly special big day!

MARKET, SANDWICH

A family-friendly pub in the heart of Sandwich, occupying a prime spot in the town square.

If you fancy a spot of entertainment they host regular live music nights, karaoke and a pub quiz. You can also watch all of the big football games whilst enjoying a burger and a pint.

Alternatively there's a range of traditional pub games to play including darts, pool and bar billiards, if you're feeling competitive.

ROYAL HOTEL, DEAL

Combining charming period features with stunning contemporary comfort, this regal seafront hotel is the perfect choice for a seaside escape.

The Boathouse bar and terrace has glorious sea views, while the Quarterdeck restaurant specialises in fresh seafood from the surrounding shores.

Whether you're looking to enjoy a romantic break in one of our rooms with a private balcony, or the perfect base to explore the local area, the Royal Hotel looks forward to welcoming you.

ZETLAND ARMS AND KINGS HEAD, DEAL

Zetland Arms

Enjoy the spectacular sunsets over the ocean alongside a fantastic menu of local seafood at this beachside pub.

The Zetland Arms is also the perfect spot to unwind after a game of golf at one of several surrounding courses including Royal St Georges, Princes and Royal Cinque Ports.

King's Head

Renowned for their award winning floral displays, the King's Head offers the opportunity to stay in a traditional seaside inn overlooking the sea and near to Deal's town centre.

The pub is close to champion Links golf courses, making it the ideal spot to stay and play.

SARACENS HEAD & DEAL HOY, DEAL

Saracens Head

The Saracens Head is just 150 yards from Deal seafront, dating back to the early 19th century.

Come and enjoy a drink and some local food in the sunshine in the courtyard garden, or next to the log fire in the colder months.

Deal Hoy

Named after a small Kentish sailing vessel often used as a water taxi, this is a traditional local pub with a cosy fire to enjoy in winter and a large beer garden for the summer.

Come and enjoy a wood-fired pizza and some lively local entertainment in Deal's historic conservation area.

COASTGUARD, ST MARGARETS BAY

Enjoy a drink in Britain's nearest pub to France! Although recently refurbished the Coastguard has kept a watch on the seafront for over 300 years.

Whilst you're enjoying a pint on the outdoor terrace, see if you can spot the White Cliffs house, once home to Noel Coward who then sold it to Ian Fleming, creator of James Bond.

LORD NELSON & CROWN AND SCEPTRE, DOVER

Crown & Sceptre

The pub dates back over 100 years, and is a hub of community activity with pool teams, darts teams and even a skittle alley in the garden.

Regularly putting on live music as well as showing football and rugby matches, there is always something going on here.

Lord Nelson

This historic pub has recently been refurbished, with a mix of traditional character features and contemporary style and décor.

The pub is situated next to the River Dour, with views of Dover Castle that you can enjoy from their riverside garden terrace.
